Yep. PSR(S)2 - there is an op planned.

PSR(S)2

All three targets were JPELed under urgency.

Snot is about the right word too. There aint gonna be much of those compounds left once they've finished. As long as they don't destroy the haystack looking for the needle (Kilcullen quote). PSR(S)2 good intell on the compounds etc. Had a lot of ISR on them (FMV iot see who's going in and out, women and kids and goats and the like).

I haven't checked our ticket for the last couple of weeks actually. I have made the executive decision to pay your share. This is purely in the hope that we do indeed win and I can make you beg for your share. I'm thinking wearing some kind of sporting team mascot uniform. Did you ever see the Hawkes Bay magpie (made out of cardboard basically)....?

A week - day two today.

It's fun - fairly fucking intense at times but fun all the same. Much easier doing a course when you don't have work anywhere nearby.

^{PSR}_{(IC)3} with ^{(IC)3} and ^{PSR}_{(IC)3} (^{PSR}_{(IC)3} replacement - have you met her?). Their team won last week so expectations are high. Go us.

PSR(S)4 never fully appreciated me...

It is Trax (with an 'X!!). Did I tell you I took PSR(IC)3 to Trax before the Welly-Counties game last week? Special day.

I'm on a course PSR(S)4 PSR(IC)3 has been very helpful, but driving with her makes me feel like Thelma and/or Louise (at the end of the movie). Rental from here on in (phew).

Happy days.
